

MTH 331 – Problem 14

Robert Ritchie

October 13, 2015

Is the set of non-negative integers modulo 6 a group with respect to multiplication modulo 6?

Proof. To be a group, the operation must have closure in the set. $(2 \times 3) \bmod 6 = 0$ since zero is not in the original set, it is not a group.

□